Have you ever heard of “Goshuin”?

Goshuin are red ink stamps, handwritten by monks, that symbolize proof that you have visited a specific temple or shrine.

In the old days, Pilgrims received Goshuin in exchange for copying Buddhist sutras, but now you can get it for a small fee. If you are interested in Goshuin, we suggest that you purchase a Goshuin-Cho, which is a small notebook designed for collecting Goshuin stamps which display the names of the shrines and temples as well as the date of your visits.

The design of Goshuin and Goshuin-Cho are different depending on the temples, shrines or season when you visit. If you search “Goshuin” in the social media, you can find amazing samples. Collecting Goshuin can be a good way to memorialize your visits to shrines and temples in Japan.

RECOMMENDED SIGHTSEEING SPOT

Meoto Iwa ~ Husband and Wife Rocks~

Many people have visited Ise Grand Shrine, a Shinto shrine dedicated to the sun goddess Amaterasu, but how many people have visited Meoto Iwa? Meoto-Iwa means Husband and Wife Rocks. They are a pair of sacred rocks located about a 20 minutes drive from Ise Grand Shrine.

Originally, it was simply a place to stop on the way to Ise Grand Shrine, but it is now worshipped for achieving a good marriage and matrimonial happiness.

From April to August, you can see the sunrise and from October to January, you can see the moonrise between the two rocks. We highly recommend that you stop by this special sight when you visit the Ise region.
